

DEEP BULLSHIT BINGO

How to play

Buzzword bingo is generally played in situations where audience members feel that the speaker is relying too heavily on buzzwords or jargon rather than providing relevant details or clarity. Business meetings led by guest speakers or notable company personalities from higher up the pay scale are often viewed as a good opportunity for buzzword bingo, as the language used by these speakers often includes predictable references to arcane business concepts, which are perfect for use in the creation of buzzword bingo cards. The empty boxes are for you to fill with additional buzzwords.

Turkey bingo requires the winner to ask a question or make a statement using his/her winning bingo words, thus signaling the win to insiders while ideally prompting the speaker to respond as if the question or statement were real.

Other versions of the game require actually yelling "Bingo!". To avoid the reprimands that would likely result from doing so, participants may resort to looking at one another and silently mouthing the word "Bingo" instead. (Source: https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Buzzword_bingo)

Scale	Real-time	Adding layers		Ian Goodfellow	The Researcher
	Autonomous	Data	Artificial Intelligence	Import tensorflow as tf	The Practitioner
Singularity	End-to-end		Unicorn	Converge
Disruptive	Robust	General AI	Explainable AI		The Enabler
Neuron		Brain	Superhuman Performance	Deep	The Nurse
The Prophet	The Manager		The Salesman	The Student	